

Congratulations 2020 Video Transcript

[music]

Years of commitment and dedication.

Months doing co-op.

Weeks in the lab.

Days (and nights) of study.

Hours of hard work.

All bringing you to this moment.

You've graduated!

Our entire faculty, staff and study body offers you our sincerest congratulations on a job well done.

>>Michael Pollastri: On behalf of the faculty, staff and student body of the College of Science, I want to congratulate you on the significant accomplishment of earning your degree. While we would much prefer to be celebrating in person with you at our traditional May ceremony, we look forward to marking this occasion with you in the future. In these challenging times, we are reminded as to how important and impactful our work as scientists and leaders is to the world. What you've learned here at Northeastern's College of Science is just the beginning. Apply your skills and knowledge to research, discovery, and innovation and you will have a positive impact on health and safety of the world. We look forward to what you do. Congratulations!

>>Alex Sucui: Graduating seniors, Masters students and PhD students, we in the Mathematics department are all so proud of you and the work you have done. Countless hours have prepared you for this exact moment. Now step into the world and make it yours! Congratulations!

>>Brian Helmuth: Congratulations students in the Environmental Science and Policy Masters program!

>>Joanne Miller: Congratulations to our psychology graduates. We are so proud of your accomplishments and wish you the very very best going forward. Now, please be sure to keep in touch with us. You will always be part of our very special psychology department community.

>>Veronica Porter: A message for the Class of 2020 from your College of Science Co-op team!

>>Co-operative Education Team: [all together] Congratulations!!!

>>Brent Nelson: A Northeastern education is unique; and our graduates even more so. You are leaders with the advantage of an experiential education - you are ready to take the world by storm. Congratulations on your hard work, your sacrifice and we look forward to seeing you back on campus sometime soon.

>>Fred Davis: My sincere congratulations to the Class of 2020 on your graduation. We hope that your time at Northeastern has been all you hoped for and more. The future holds great things for each of you. Best wishes!

>>Tara Duffy: To all the graduating seniors in MES, congratulations!

>>Nathaniel Bade: Congratulations from everyone here at the department of Mathematics.

>>Jenn Ingemi: Hello Graduates. On behalf of the Behavioral Neuroscience program faculty and staff, I would like to say congratulations to the Class of 2020. We are so proud of your amazing achievements and know that you all have a bright future ahead. I wish you health, happiness, and success as you enter into this next exciting chapter. Congratulations!

>>David Budil: Congratulations Class of 2020. I want to make a special shout out to the Biochemistry and Chemistry graduates, many of whom we got to know in the senior research course this past year. You all did a wonderful job and we'll be watching your future success with great anticipation. Hope you'll all stay in touch with us as you make your way into the future.

>>Melissa Rubock: Congratulations on behalf of all of us at Graduate Admissions and Student Services. We wish you the best of luck in your future endeavors.

>>Graduate Admissions and Student Services: [all together] Congratulations!

>>Geoffrey Trussell: Greetings members of the Class of 2020. I hope you are all staying healthy and safe as we navigate these challenging times and I'm truly sorry that we are unable to celebrate your accomplishments at our traditional May graduation ceremony. As Chair of the Department of Marine and Environmental Sciences and on behalf of our entire community, I congratulate you all on your wonderful achievements. Your positive impact on this world are just beginning to be realized. And now, more than ever, we need strong scientists that will help guide us to a cleaner, safer and smarter world. Congratulations and I wish you all the very best. Cheers!

>>Heather Littlefield: However you want to say it, Congratulations!

>>Kellie Melchin: Congratulations Graduates, we'll miss you.

>>Malcolm Hill: Congratulations to the Class of 2020. After this spring, your class motto really should be "Huskies Endure". Well done!

>>James Poulos: Congratulations to all of our 2020 graduates and welcome to the Northeastern College of Science Alumni Community. We look forward to having you back on campus for your commencement and for future Alumni gatherings and celebrations. You will always be a member of the husky pack.

>>Jared Auclair: From the Biotechnology and Bioinformatics program, congratulations to the class of 2020!

>>Mark Williams: On behalf of the Physics Department I want to recognize all of the Physics, Applied Physics, Biomedical Physics, and other physics combined majors! Congratulations to our graduate students as well, and to all of you for finishing your program during challenging times!

>>Mark Patterson: Way to go, Huskies! My very best wishes to all of you. You made it! Big thank you to the friends and family that helped you on your journey. I know your time with us isn't finishing up the way we all had planned, but you've got the resilience to weather this. Please take all you've learned here in the College of Science out into the world and make a difference. We need your talents now more than ever.

>>Neal Pearlmutter: Hi Class of 2020. Congratulations from the Linguistics program.

>>Penny Beuning: Congratulations to the class of 2020. Keep in touch!

>>Susan Powers-Lee: To the class of 2020, many many congratulations. I'm honored to be here with the huskies congratulating you on your accomplishments at Northeastern and wishing you all the best for your wonderful futures.

>>Wendy Smith: Congratulations to all of the Biology, Cell and Molecular Biology and all of the Combined Biology majors at the bachelors, masters and doctoral levels. We've truly enjoyed our time with you. Your energy and your curiosity have enriched our classes, our labs, our teams, our clubs and our communities including many of our local hospitals and we'll miss you. We wish you all the success in the world and we know you'll go on to do great things. Keep in touch with us and be well.

>>Chris Beasley: Best wishes to all graduates and good luck from the department of Mathematics.

>>Lauren Machunis: Class of 2020, welcome to the Husky Alumni family.

>>Dori Woods: Congratulations Class of 2020!

>>Sol Jekel: Congratulations Math majors from your faculty advisor. I want to wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

>>Amber Watson: On behalf of academic advising, congratulations graduates!

>>Undergraduate Academic Advising Team: [all together] Congratulations!
Congratulations graduates! Congrats! Congratulations! Congratulations graduates!
Congratulations graduates! Congratulations! Congratulations! Congratulations!
Congratulations!

>>Dawn Cisewski: As the faculty advisors of the psychology department, Dr. Sharp and I would like to extend our sincere congratulations to all our 2020 seniors. Dr. Sharp...

>>William Sharp: So whether we saw you in class or around campus, congratulations on everything that you've accomplished. Stay in touch and once again, Congratulations 2020 seniors!

>>Dawn Cisewski: Congratulations!

We are immensely proud to call you Northeastern University College of Science Graduates.

We hope to see you back on campus soon, Huskies!

Way to go, Class of 2020!

[music]